TRANSPORTATION ELECTRIFICATION PLAN ADJUSTMENT RIDER

Transportation is the largest source of carbon emissions in the U.S. That's why Xcel Energy is proud to support Colorado's ambitious clean transportation goals, including having 940,000 electric vehicles (EVs) on the road by 2030. Our transportation vision is complementary to the state's vision —partnering with others, we want to enable one out of five vehicles in the areas we serve to be electric by 2030, leading to cleaner air and billions of dollars in customer savings.

Today, plugging in with Xcel Energy's clean, affordable energy is the equivalent of about $1 per gallon or less when charging at home during off-peak hours. Plus, an EV powered with electricity from Xcel Energy has more than 55% lower carbon emissions than a conventional gasoline powered car. By 2030, that number is expected to jump to more than 80% under our plans to reduce carbon emissions.

HOW THE TEPA RIDER WORKS

In December 2020, the Colorado Public Utilities Commission approved Xcel Energy's 2021–2023 Transportation Electrification Plan (TEP) and the rider mechanism, the Transportation Electrification Programs Adjustment (TEPA), to recover TEP-related costs. On Oct. 3, 2023, Xcel Energy—Colorado filed its annual TEPA rider forecast filing to update the rates reflected in the TEPA based on the TEP revenue requirement for 2024 to take effect Jan. 1, 2024, if granted by the Commission.

The revenue effect of this filing is a net change in the company's annual revenue of $19,495,413 compared to the rates currently in effect. The net revenue requirement of $21,756,126 is made up of the 2024 revenue requirement of $24,822,649 plus a refund adjustment of $3,066,522 from the true-up of the 2022 TEPA rider and 2022 PIM Award.

The effect of this filing on Xcel Energy's average Colorado residential electric bill is an increase of 37 cents per month to $92.42, or 0.40%. The average small commercial electric bill would increase 97 cents per month to $124.32, or 0.79%.
