

Energy Advisor Service

Use our free energy advisor service

Xcel Energy is offering a free energy advisor service to our residential customers in Colorado to help you move from audit to action. Xcel Energy's expert energy advisors at CLEAResult will provide unbiased advice and guidance on next steps toward making your home more comfortable and less costly to maintain. They can help you with applicable rebates, incentives, contractors and best practices so you know you're making educated, smart decisions that are right for your home.

Energy advisors can help make the home energy upgrade process smooth, easy and successful.

Energy advisors are expert consultants who can:

- Provide unbiased advice and impartial guidance about energy upgrades
- Review your Home Energy Audit with you or help you schedule one
- Help you identify and prioritize next steps for your home energy improvements
- Provide energy efficiency education and information
- Assist you with contractor bidding and selecting a contractor for energy upgrades
- Connect you with applicable rebates, financing and incentives, and help you with the paperwork
- Connect you with Xcel Energy's complementary programs, such as the Saver's Switch[®], Solar*Rewards[®], and Windsource[®], among others.

If you have already had an Xcel Energy Home Energy Audit recently, you may receive a call or email from an energy advisor offering to review your audit with you.

Here's what homeowners are saying about CLEAResult energy advisors:

"My advisor was fantastic! She was super helpful, answered all of my questions, and was very prompt in responding to emails."
