

DEEMED SAVINGS TECHNICAL ASSUMPTIONS

Program: Lighting Efficiency: T12 LED Troffers

Prescriptive rebates will be offered for the installation of LED linear fluorescent troffers or retrofit kits.

Algorithms:

Electrical Demand Savings (Customer kW)	= (kW_Base - kW_EE) x HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor
Electrical Energy Savings (Customer kWh/yr)	= (kW_Base - kW_EE) x Hrs x HVAC_cooling_kWhsavings_factor
Natural Gas Savings (Dth)	= (kW_Base - kW_EE) x Hrs x HVAC_heating_penalty_factor
Electrical Energy Savings (Gross Generator kWh)	= Customer kWh / (1-TDLF)
Electrical Demand Savings (Gross Generator kW)	= Customer kW x CF / (1-TDLF)
Electrical Energy Savings (Net Generator kWh)	= Gross Generator kWh x NTG
Electrical Demand Savings (Net Generator kW)	= Gross Generator kW x NTG

Variables:

Hrs	= Annual Operating Hours. Hours to be obtained from Table 2. The type of facility is to be supplied by the customer.
kW_Base	= Baseline fixture wattage (kW per fixture) determined from stipulated fixture wattages from Standard Fixture information. Fixture type provided by customer. Table 4-5 kW_EE	= High Efficiency fixture wattage (kW per fixture) determined from stipulated fixture wattages from Standard Fixture information. Fixture type provided by customer. Table 4-5
HVAC_cooling_kWhsavings_factor	= Cooling system energy savings factor resulting from efficient lighting from Table 1. Reduction in lighting energy results in a reduction in cooling energy, if the customer has air conditioning. Existence of air conditioning to be provided by customer.
HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor	= Cooling system demand savings factor resulting from efficient lighting from Table 1. Reduction in lighting demand results in a reduction in cooling demand, if the customer has air conditioning. Existence of air conditioning to be provided by customer.
HVAC_heating_kWsavings_factor	= Heating system penalty factor resulting from efficient lighting. Reduction in lighting demand results in an increase in heating usage, if the customer has gas heating. A value of -0.000534 Dth/kWh given by (Reference 2).
CF	= Coincidence Factor, the probability that peak demand of the lights will coincide with peak utility system demand. CF will be determined based on customer provided building type in table 2.
Measure Life	= Length of time the lighting equipment will be operational, see Table 3 for Measure Lifetimes
Baseline Cost	= Cost of the baseline technology. For Retrofit, the cost is $0.00 since the baseline is to continue to operate the existing system. For New Construction, the cost is that of the lower efficiency option. Costs by (Reference 4) and vendors.
High Efficiency Cost	= Cost of the High Efficiency technology. Costs given in tables 4-6 (Reference 4, 8) and vendors.
TDLF	Transmission Distribution Loss Factor = 6.50% , the percentage loss of electricity as it flows from the power plant to the customer, calculated using factors from Enhanced DSM Filing SRD-2
NTG	Net-to-gross = 84% for prescriptive measures (Reference 5) and 96% for Custom Efficiency Lighting and Lighting Redesign based on the additional influence.
Incremental operation and maintenance cost	= Other annual savings or costs associated with the electrical savings. For Lighting, this consists of additional natural gas for heating. Methodology given by Reference 2.

Assumptions:

Each replacement lighting fixture is going in on a one-for-one basis for existing fixtures. New construction fixtures are put in on a one-for-one basis instead of lower efficiency options. We account for lighting level reductions based on custom projects and use the DOE data fact sheet for efficacy of existing fixtures (Reference 10)
The efficacy ratings and incremental cost for the New Construction baseline fixtures is based on fixtures that meet the DOE CBEA Lighting Troffer Requirement. (Reference 9)
Each LED fixture is required to be listed on the DesignLights Consortium Qualified Products list, and therefore must meet their minimum specification.

Info needed from Customer/Vendor Administrator for Calculations:

Number of fixtures being installed
Lighting equipment type (baseline and efficient for Retrofit; efficient for New Construction)
Building type
Existence of air conditioning
Confirmation equipment is a DesignLights Consortium Qualified Product

Product: Lighting Efficiency, Midstream LED Measures

Description:

Customers will receive point of sale rebates at their lighting equipment distributor for qualified ENERGY STAR® Integrated Lamps and Retrofit Kits.

Algorithms:

Electrical Demand Savings (Customer kW)	= (kW_Base - kW_EE) x HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor
Electrical Energy Savings (Customer kWh/yr)	= (kW_Base - kW_EE) x Hrs x HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor
kW_Base	= kW_EE x LPW_EE / LPW_Base
Hrs_Base	=Hrs *HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor/HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor
Hrs_EE	=Hrs *HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor/HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor

Variables:

Hrs	= Annual Operating Hours. The Program will not have direct access to market segment information, so a deemed average based on the Commercial Buildings Energy Consumption Survey results is used in combination with an ASHRAE deemed lighting operating hours table as shown in Table 1. The assumed participation mix will be updated as necessary to accurately reflect the market. 3,063 hrs is used as a result of this analysis.
kW_EE	= High Efficiency fixture wattage (kW per fixture). This is defined by the manufacturer and maintained and reported by the distributor.
LPW_EE	=Efficacy of the efficient technology (lumens per watt). This is defined by the manufacturer and maintained and reported by the distributor.
LPW_Base	=Efficacy of the baseline technology (lumens per watt). This is defined according to lamp category in Table 2 below.
HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor	= Reduction in lighting energy results in a reduction in cooling energy, if the customer has air conditioning. CBECS is used to determine a market average for the region (Reference 11 and 12). 1.1027788 is used.
HVAC_cooling_kWsavings_factor	= Reduction in lighting demand results in a reduction in cooling demand, if the customer has air conditioning. CBECS is used to determine a market average for the region (Reference 11 and 12). 1.2609000 is used.
CF	= Coincidence Factor, the probability that peak demand of the lights will coincide with peak utility system demand. CF will be determined based on industry weighted building type as shown in Table 1. 59.5 % is used
Measure Life	= Length of time the lighting equipment will be operational. Defined by Manufacturers and collected and reported by distributors to Xcel Energy. Values shown in Table 3 are used.
Baseline Cost	= Cost of the baseline technology. Costs will be collected from the equipment distributor to align with cost estimation methodology for proposed equipment.
High Efficiency Cost	= Cost of the high efficiency technology. Costs will be collected from the equipment distributor on the product invoice.
